

Fantasy stories

English special class of form 7
Marienschule Münster
Mr Reick
2008

The story of Connice

In the year 1800 there was a little village called "Connice". There lived about 300 people. Around Connice there was a big forest.

The people couldn't leave Connice because everyone who went into the forest didn't come back. They said, there were vampires which killed the people and sucked out the blood of their bodies but nobody really new.

At December 9th 1800 a girl named Ashley wanted to look for mushrooms. It was a cold but sunny winter morning. So she put on her shoes and took the little path which led into the forest. "Don't go there! There are vampires.", her friend Sharon shouted but Ashley just answered: "I don't believe it." And then she went on and on along the path. She looked for mushrooms but she didn't see anyone. Suddenly there was a strange noise. Ashley turned round. It wasn't sunny anymore. It was dark and snowing. Behind her she saw two green eyes and the shadow of a man. He came closer slowly. "Are you alone?", he asked. "I'm not afraid of you!", Ashley shouted at him. But she was. The man stood in front of her but he didn't move. Then he laughed horribly and Ashley could see two long sharp teeth in his mouth. She shuddered. And then she starts to run. But of course the vampire was faster than her and kept her arm. He opened wide his mouth, bit her in her neck, and began to suck her blood. Ashley screamed of fear and pain. 10 minutes later she couldn't see clearly and then it turned dark in front of her eyes...

One week later people from Connice found her. She was dead. Her body was pale and her eyes red.

And since that December 9th 1800 every year a boy or a girl disappears and people find them at the same place where Ashley has been found. Their bodies are pale and eyes red...

Josephine Dreier, 7c

The unknown witch

Once upon a time there was a little witch named Iris.

Actual she were a normal girl like you and me... and she went to school, too. But one day she striked about her that she is different than the other girls. She didn't know what she have, but she knew something is different with her. And a few weeks later she found out, that she is a witch ! At once she told her two sisters, Jane and Ruby about her... !

But what that happened, Iris couldn't believe. Her two sisters are witches, too. And now the moment was coming. But Iris didn't know what she must do. Her two sisters take Iris to a room she didn't know before.

Than Iris saw a mirrow. But that wasen't a normal mirrow. It was a big, gold magicmirrow. It was kind of scary. Iris asked her two sisters what they wan't here. And one minute later Jane and Ruby pulled her into the mirrow... but than... They are in another world !

Iris hold one breath. She couldn't believe what she see. There are many creatures. But the creatures didn't look happy. They looked sad. Very sad ! „Why do they look sad?“ asked Iris. „Here in Wonderland gives for a few years a mean man.. his name is Gargamel.“ sad her sister Ruby.

„Gaargaamel ?, What a crazy name..“ sad Iris. „Maybe, it's a crazy name.. but he is not so crazy!“answered Jane. „He steal the creatures things.“ „Day for day!“ sad Jane. „Up they haven't anymore.“ sad Jane. „But that's so mean isn't it ?“ansked Iris. „Yes that's right.“ her two sisters answered. „Thatswhy we are here.“ Ruby sad. „But what can we do ?“ asked Iris „We must fight against him !“ sad Jane and Ruby together. And than they went to Gargamels dark castle.

„We're be there.“ whisperd Jane. They walked slowly nearer the castle. Suddenly Gargamel jumed out of one dark window and laughed loudly ! „Ah. I know that youre will be come.“sad Gargamel. „Gaaargaaaameeeel!!!!!!“ cried Ruby. And after that Jane gived Ruby and Iris a signal and than they tooked their magicwands and sad a magicspell : „Larum$plindarorius$suuunakukuroriusssss!!!!“ and than they put a spell on Gargamel and the creatures from Wonderland had their things back and they are all happy. Iris,Ruby and Jane went through the mirrow back at home and slept.

A ghost- or a human story?

Gerd the ghost sat in front of his homework. They must write a good story about the humans. When Gerd doesn't write the story he wouldn't be allowed to go to the ghost disco. But he wants to go there, because there is a really nice ghost girl. Her name is Gundel and Gerd loves her. But Gerd had no idea what he can write. So he flew around the castle. Suddenly he saw a girl in one room in the castle. The girl lives with her family in this old castle. Her name is Clara. Now she sat in front of her homework. She must write a ghost story. When she has got a fantastic story, she can go to the school disco. But she had no idea. So she phoned her best friend Amy. "What have you wrote?" she asked. "I haven't wrote something...". They talked and talked.

Meanwhile the ghost flew to the room of Clara. Gerd looked through the keyhole and then he flew through it. He is suspended (schweben) to the girls' desk. Clara looked in her exercise book. Gerd looked over her shoulder. The girl can't see Gerd, because ghosts are invisible. Gerd wasn't carefully and he bumped a glass with pencils. The glass fell to the ground and crack. The girl screamed. "Who are there?" But nobody answered. She heard a noise. Gerd ran to the cupboard. But he was too fast and crashed into it. "BANG!" All the books dropped on Gerd. Clara screamed louder than before. Then it was quiet. nothing moved. Few moments later Gerd appeared under the books. But Clara saw just how the books moved. She lost her consciousness. Gerd flew out of the girls room, through the castle and in his own room at the roof. When he calmed down he had an brilliant idea for his story. So he wrote and wrote. When the girl woke up she had a good idea for her story, too. She begun to write...

At the next day Clara read the story to the class. The teacher said: "Oh, what a wonderful story!" And all the pupil applauded. In the evening she went to disco. It was a nice and funny evening.

On the same day Gerd read his story to the class. The teacher praised him. And Gundel said: "It's a nice, scary story." At midnight when they are in the disco Gerd asked Gundel: "Will you danced with me?" Gundel said yes.

by Katrin Rieger 7a

U N B E L I E V A B L E

She waited nearly over an hour. Why did he let him go, damn? She took the heart, kissed it, and drooped it. It dangled easy on her neck.

It had been at the river, this afternoon. They had laid in the meadow, and he had given her his heart.

He had told her: 'Lola, my real heart is yours, but now take this chain. Please. I want you to keep it. Even if it doesn't reflect your real beauty.'

She had taken the present, whose chain was only so thin that it glowed like morning dew in the sun, and had balanced the pendant in her hand. It had been a silver heart.

She had always been jealous of people, who had special features, like Lyonel. He could move things through the air.

'Lyonel..' she had said, 'that's so amazing!'

But now, he wasn't here. She sat in the treehouse. Alone. Should she go and look for him?

He said that he wanted to go to the river to get water. They always did that when they were thirsty, but now it was pitch-dark.

From the beginning on, she had a bad feeling and fear that he could get lost. Until now they had only been here during the day, but now they wanted to stay over night.

Lola's parents couldn't care, they died in a car accident when she was young. The education people in the children's home didn't care what she was doing or where she was.

Lyonel's parents were, like so often, on a business trip in the USA. They didn't care of her son, they only gave the money to him - and money, they had enough. Not without a reason they live on a very big estate where others are dreaming of.

They were so different.

But that's what they are addicted to.

She looked out of the window. Nothing. Only darkness.

But .. what was that?

A shadow, not far away from the treehouse. She saw it. A black figure.

She has stopped breathing. Now she panted for air and jumped at the light switch. She banged in front of the wall, where was carved L+L and switched off the light.

Whatever it has been, it was still close to her. Lola felt it.

Slowly and very calm she moved back to the window.

After a while she realized that she had to search for Lyonel. She took her coat from the hook and opened the door.

She listened into the quiet of the night and went down the ladder. Softly she landed on the wet forest ground. It has become colder, automatically she pushed her coat together. Her hands were trembling.

Slowly her feet began to move and with every step she went deeper into the woods.

The moon was covered by clouds and around her were high and dark trees.

From somewhere there was the shout of an owl.

She took the thoughts about animals and getting lost away and concentrated herself to find Lyonel.

She shut her eyes and .. heard something behind her. This Something, whatever it was, was not so close behind her but her body started sweating and her legs cramped.

She whispered: 'Lyonel...?'

But that thing behind her wasn't a human being. Lola heard wild wheeze and other noises and she got goose bumps.

She started to run. She fell down one time, but stood up quickly. She thought if it was the thing under the treehouse, but she hasn't time to superior.

She forced her legs into run faster, into jump higher, into abscond more quickly.

She didn't know where she was running.

After a while her body was exhausted. She couldn't abscond the whole time.

Her steps became slower and slower and then her feet stopped to move.

She turned around. Nothing to hear or to see.

She had taken them down.

...

She leaned against a trunk.

Suddenly .. she saw them.

Bloodthirstily, bestial creatures. They looked very thin and bony.

She couldn't abort a scream.

Blood came out of their mouths and their head was white-green.

Their screaming and wild wheeze sounded in Lola's ears, she panicked and breathed faster.

They commemorated her to "Gollum" from "Lord of the rings", but their teeth weren't rotten. They were acute and full of blood.

She shut her eyes and opened it to see if she wasn't dreaming.

But that in front of her wasn't a dream.

It was the reality.

A horrible, brutal reality.

Should that be the end?

Should it really happen like this?
She stood up...

**

The last thing, she remembered, was, that the beast had ran towards her.
Then, she had swooned.

Where was she?

On her left hand was something cold and wet. A wall, covered with moss.
She was in a cavern.

Carefully she rose up.

The left arm hurt, everywhere she recognized claw marks.

She panicly touched her neck. The chain was still there. Relieved she breathed off.

In the darkness she couldn't see very much, only a few gleams of light served her.

Her clothes felt wet and from the ceiling it was dropping water.

Obviously it looked like water.

Suddenly she saw a figure on the other side of the wall, knee-jerk she pressed herself on the ground.

The figure moved towards her and Lola hit it. Painfully it screamed off.

'Who...WHAT are you?!', she asked.

'LOLA!'

'LYONEL! .. oh Lyonel it's you! I .. I found you! Oh my god, I'm sorry, I wouldn't hit you!'

'No problem', he laughed. 'But .. '

'I looked for you in the forest. You've been away too long.'

'Oh Lola.. why did you do that?'

'Lyonel, I love you.' She did a offended face.

'Oh, yes. You're right. But that isn't a reason to expose to life.'

'Thank you very much. How do I know that I'll be affected by beasts?'

'You could guess that.'

She sticked one's tongue out to him.

'How did you get here?'

'I was at the river and saw this strange creatures. I haven't got a chance. I moved stones, branches and other things towards them but they're .. let me say they're very immune.'

'Oh. Fantastic. And how do we get out of this ?'

'The exit of our cavern-chamber is guarded by two of the .. lets call them
Wyverns .. so we have to knock them out,'

'OUR cavern-chamber?!'

'Yes.'

'Theoretical we can get lost in this tunnels.'

'Just theoretical.'

'Wonderful.'

After a few time she asked: 'And how do we knock out the .. Wyverns?'

No answer.

'Okay, so you don't know how we can hurt this beasts.'

'Eh .. no.'

'Awesome.'

**

They agree on slashing at the Wyverns and armed with stones who lay on the ground. Then they set off.

After a few time they went through the tunnel, they saw the two minder. In their hands they held lances.

Lyonel counted.

1 ..

2 ..

and..

3!!

They jumped on them and pulled the Whyverns on the ground.

The one tried to ram his lance into Lola's stomach but she accroached it and threw it to Lyonel. He caughted the lance and stabbed it into his Whyvern. He was dead. A kinky, yellow liquid came out of its body.

Lola strangled the other minder and Lyonel dropped a stone on his face.

Finally he was dead, too.

Lola sat down on the ground.

'Oh my god. That were first two of them. Two! Do you know what that means?!'

'Yes, Lola. We will get it.' He caressed her red hair and whispered: 'Come on, let's go on before they give the alarm.'

They went through some other caverns and no one saw them. Now they entered a hall, it appeared to be hall, a hall full of victims.

In every corner, on the ceiling, on the ground, on the walls.

It was horrible.

Bestial.

They were everywhere.

...

Skewered heads.

Skulls.

Dilapidated.

'No .. oh no! Please tell me that this is a lie. It must be a lie. This creatures are .. cannibals?!', Lola whispered. She began to cry and it seemed like her legs won't carry her any longer. She leaned on Lyonel.

'Lola please be strong! I love and need you! I don't want you to be the next victim, because you are me, and I am you.'

'Yes .. okay. I .. we will get that.'

'Come on.'

They went on.

Soon they ran.

They didn't get lost.

No one followed them.

Soon they arrived at the exit of the caverns.

'Lyonel we .. we did it! We are outdoors.'

'Yes but when we didn't hurry we couldn't maintain the lead. They will follow.'

'Sounds logical, but .. what should we do? Wait a moment!'

'What's wrong?' Lyonel looked afraid when Lola Shut her eyes.

'Something comes towards us. They come, Ly! From the caverns. RUN!'

They sprinted on.

When Lola turned around she saw the creatures, running on all fours.

How long would they be on the run? Meanwhile they realized that it gets brighter and brighter, shafts of sunlight fell down on the ground and the Whyverns went back to the darkness in their caverns.

Lola and Lyonel went through the woods, they couldn't run anymore, because it impossible. The were too exhausted and adynamic.

'Dear .. what is that?'

'What do you mean?'

'I hear something. Do you see it?'

'Do you think it's .. Ly! That is, that is a street!'

She jumped in his arms and kissed him.

'Come on..!'

Now, that there was a chance to find a way out..

Now, when they needn't come back to this place..

They ran, don't matter how tired they are, and the street came nearer.

After a few time they saw a red BMW Pick up.

Lola began to scream out loudly.

The driver stops.

He asked: ' Do you need a taxi? Climb on!'

'Thank you! Thank you .. oh you don't know .. Thanks!'

Then they climbed on the load floor.

The princess and the dragon

It was very hot on this day although it was late in the afternoon. The king of China and his beautiful daughter named Shang Hi sat in the palace and talked about Shang Hi's wedding.

"I'm so excited", said the princess, "this will be the best day in my life." At this moment the door opened. Chai Hu, the fiancé of Shang Hi, came into the room, kissed the Princess quickly and sat down. "Hello", he said in a quiet and sonorous voice to the king, "you wanted to talk to me?" "Yes", the king answered, "but, Shang Hi? Can you go out for a little moment, please? It's a surprise for you." The daughter stood up and went out. The door closed behind her, so she couldn't hear anything from the other room. For a short moment, she wanted to turn around and eavesdrop at the door, but then she went to the royal park. "Only babies eavesdrop", she thought and went faster.

After ten minutes Shang Hi walked around the park between old trees that irreflected the last sunbeams of the day. She was alone and didn't hear anything, apart from the voice of a bird, but she wasn't scared because she was in this forest very often. Suddenly the princess saw a shimmer under the leaves on the ground 20 meters next to the normal way to go. Carefully she sneaked to the place where she saw the shimmer...and fell to the ground. Something lay on her and she couldn't see anything. Shang Hi wanted to scream but the thing on her stuffed a strange smelling piece of cloth into her mouth. She was tied now and the terrible things around her were only hazy. Shang Hi wanted to sleep only.

"Oh, it's so boring here", he thought and looked in the mirror. The mirror image showed a big green creature maybe 3 m tall with huge green scales and leather wings. The dragon sighed and little flames blazed in his nose. "This is Shao Meng commonly known as Dubble the dragon who only eats vegetarian food. He died very early with only 624 years because it was so boring in Iceland and there wasn't another dragon near his volcano" he said to the mirror.

Dubble went out and flew over Iceland's wild scenery and the other volcanoes. At this moment he was happy because he flew alone and could see the stunning scenery and the last sunbeams light the green meadows. At this place there only lived animals and Shao Meng. Suddenly he saw something: some people came out of a cold volcano. The dragon got a fright. How could they come to Iceland? He flew slowly behind a big volcano and looked for them. The people - they were four men - climbed out of the crater and went down to the ground. They stood there for a moment and then walked to the forest on the other side of the place. One of them held a big map in his left hand. Slowly and carefully Shao Meng flew to the entrance of the volcano. What things did the men do in the mountain? It was quiet and dark in the hole and the dragon didn't see anything. He sneaked and listened every three meters. After ten minutes it got light. He could see a big door in the wall of the crater and next to the door a hook with a key. The dragon took the key and opened the door.

"Hello?" Somebody asked. "Is there anybody?" Dubble faltered. He pushed the door and saw a young woman with a beautiful dress sitting on a chair in a small room with stony walls and just a bed, a table and the chair in it. The woman smiled although in front of her there stood a huge green dragon and looked at her horrified. "Who are you?" She said with a polite voice. "I - I'm Sha - Shao Meng." Stammered Shao Meng. "But who are you? I mean you are, sorry but you are a human!" "I'm Shang Hi and yes I'm a human."

"Where did you come from?"

"I came from China. Do you know where we are now?"

"In Iceland."

"Do you live here?"

"Yes."

"How long have you been living here?"

"For only 624 years. Why are you here? In Island there aren't living people."

"I don't want to be here."

"Why not? It's very nice."

Shang Hi told Dubble about her story. "So I'm here ", she said in the end, "because the terrible king Cho He wanted to reign over China and now he's blackmailing my father and my fiancé." The princess started to cry. "Don't cry, please." Dubble said desperate. He was sad, too. "Maybe I can help you."

"Really, you can?"

"Of course, I will."

"How could you ever help me?"

"I'm going to fly you home."

"Do you know where China is?"

"No, but the men who are keeping you prisoner here are having a big map. Maybe you can see the whole world on it. I can take it with me when they don't hold it in their hands." "That's a very good idea. Thank you." Shang Hi said hopefully.

"You're welcome. But when do they come to you next?"

"I think in one hour."

"Okay", said the dragon busily, "I'm going to hide from the men and you have to hold them up and when I scream your name you have to run to me as fast as you can."

Shao Meng went out, closed the door and hanged up the key. Then he crawled behind a big stone and waited. After a while he heard footsteps. The four men appeared from the dark site of the hole. Dubble could see them clearly. The first man had a muscular figure. Under the stretching T-shirt the pectoral muscles became apparent. His hair was straight and dark-black. Behind this man there stood two stocky but muscular persons and they were followed by a tall man with long black hair and the map in his big hand. One of them – maybe he was the commander – took the key and said something in a foreign language to the tall man with the map. Dubble didn't understand it but the tall man put the map down on the ground. They opened the door and went in. Slowly and as quietly as he could, Shao Meng sneaked to the map and took it. The men spoke to Shang Hi in the small room. Suddenly something cracked under the weight of Dubble. You couldn't hear it so much but one man turned around and looked into the eyes of the dragon. "A DRAGON!" he screamed and ran into the room, away from Shao Meng.

"Shang Hi! Come out!" Dubble shouted and spread out his wings. The ends of them scraped across the stonewalls but it fit. Shang Hi came out and climbed on Shao Meng's back. He gave her the map and started to fly towards the entry. They left the crater behind them and after a while they could see the blue sky. Under them the scenery smudged and then they were over the sea. "First I'm going to fly to Great Britain. My brother lives there so I know the way. Then we can fly you home."

"Okay."

It was three o'clock am and Shang Hi slept comfortable between the wings. Under them you could see mountains of Scotland and Shao Meng landed on a ledge in front of a stony hole. "Shang Hi", he whispered, "wake up! We're at my brother's hole." Shang Hi opened her eyes and jumped on the ground. Together they entered the hole. After ten meters they could see a room with a tall ceiling a big fireplace on the wall in front of them. It smelled like fire cones. "Hello little brother, nice to meet you. And...Oh- who is this?" With the light of the small fire you could see the contours of a big brown creature with a long neck and claret wings. "Hello, Soh Lee. This is Shang Hi. I'm going to tell you her story later. Have you got time for us?"

"Yes, of course. But perhaps you can tell your story by yourself" the dragon said to Shang Hi.

Shang Hi told him about her problem. "And now", she ended, "Shao Meng wants to fly me back home. On this card you can see the way to China." She gave him the map. "Oh yes that's very good but you have to stop in Germany, Romania, Georgia and in Iran before you can fly to China. I know it's a big detour but Dubble can just fly in warm areas." "Oh, that's okay for me. Without my big friend I would sit in Iceland now." Shang Hi smiled to Dubble. Then the three talked about the right route and eat some hazelnuts. (Shang Hi chewed the nuts and the dragons ate the leaves from the bushes).

The first light came over the high mountains in the hole. Shang Hi and Shao Meng stood on the ledge and waited for Soh Lee who looked for something. He went out of the hole with a glass-bottle in his paw. "Drink this", he said to Shang Hi, "with this you are going to feel warm and comfortable on this flight." Soh Lee said goodbye to the woman and his brother and flew away. Shang Hi drank the liquid in the bottle and at once she felt warm. "Let's go", Dubble said and they started. They flew over the North Sea and Nederland (Shang Hi laughed about the nice windmills) and stopped in a forest of Bavaria. After this they overcame the treacherous winds of Bulgaria and stayed in Romania for three days. In Georgia Shang Hi walked around the beach whereas Dubble ate a lot of plants in the mountains. And then (they couldn't stay in Iran because there was a horrible epidemic) they arrived in China.

"Look", said Shang Hi one day excited, "you can see my home. There! There's my palace. Look, it's the town, I'm home." Dubble landed in front of the palace and everyone ran out to see what this big creature was. Shang Hi jumped on the ground and said hello to everyone. At last a little old man with grey hair accompanied of a muscular man with black hair came towards Shang Hi and Dubble. "Oh my daughter, you're back!" shouted the king of China staggered. "I can't believe it." He embraced the young woman. "You have to tell me everything..."

Some days later Shao Meng flew to the forests of China to eat some plants. At this moment he nibbled at a small tree suddenly a creature came to his little place. It was a dragon. A feminine dragon! She was purple and breath-taking beautiful. "Oh, good evening", she said and a light rose sneaked in her cheeks, "who are you?"

Marie Burkart

The liomen's heart

It was winter. Robbie and me (Dido) were collecting wood for the campfire, because the nights were very cold in the dschungle. Kenzy and Nily stood at the tents. I was putting an old, rotten piece of wood in my basket, but perhaps I heard a horrible scream. I turned around and saw Robbie running away to our camp. Then I saw why: a gigantic big liomen stood in front of me. Liomen because it was to a half a lion and to the other half a man. For a few seconds we looked at the other, but then he started to roar. "Oh, my god!!", I was shouting and run away through the dschungle. I tript over the roots of trees and fought one's way through bushes. I heard the him behind me. I was running and running and running, but the liomen was still following me. " Just longer a pair of meters.", I thought. My heart was beating fast. It didn't hurt because I ran so long- it hurts because I was scared. There was the clearing! I stood next to Kenzy, Nily and Robbie! I was shockt: all around us were just liomens!! 20, 30, 40, I couldn't count them. I didn't saw the trees anymore. It felt like they wanted to have a party here- an eatingparty. "Stop moving! They can smell our fear." We stood there like statures. We still didn't move, but perhaps Nily shouted:" Please, don't eat us!PLEASE!! We can do everything you want." She was trying to sound brave, but her voice was unsteady and hestitate. "We don't want to eat us.", the biggest liomen told us with his dark voice,"would you help us please? Would you please find the heart of our leader?? Somebody had stole it, and without it he can just live for only 30 hours! We only know, that the heart is at Ulin-temple." "I think, that's no problem for us", I said and looked at the others: they were shaking with fear. "Oh, come on! be a little bit braver!!", I wanted to motivate them, but it didn't help. i got in touch with the liomens." We will have it in tomorrow. Then come here and take it it you." The liomens disappeared.

The next morning we were standing in front of the temple."OK",I said, "let's go." And kept walking. The temple was very dark, I was only one room. "that's easy", I said and ran to the shining something at the other end of the room, but perhaps the floor disappeared.I fell. I heard the voices of my friends. Then nothing. I was dead.

" Dido!", I could hear something!"Dido, wake up!" I opened my eyes and saw Robbie. IT WAS ONLY A DREAM!!!! "Come on!", Robbie said, " we have to collect wood!"

THE END

The mysterious lunar eclipse

Some time ago there was an old forsaken castle. Here lived the terrible vampire Jack. One night he came out of his black coffin and thought: 'I'm so hungry. I need an new sacrifice to drink blood. On my last meal I was 739 years old. Now I'm 1864. I'm meriting blood.'

His terrible method to find a sacrifice was so: He blew in the four different cardinals and then a boy wanted to follow this 'scent'. And really: On the next morning Maik had got a thinking: 'I must follow this...scent.', he thought.

At school it was very difficult to sit on the chair. Very often the teacher said: 'Maik, listen, please. It's important! What's wrong with you? Normally you're a very good pupil!'

After school Maik didn't went home with his little sister because he can't. Maik's little sister Barbara was very silly. always when her friends are at her house (and that was very often) she screamed.

Maik followed this wonderful scent. Every ten metres he sniff. He walked along the lake into a dark forest. He went and went and went. It started to become darker and darker. It was night. Then he get to a large mountain. On this mountain there was the castle. Maik walked to the door and went in. He saw really scary things: Blood on the floor, strange red symbols on the walls and everywhere there was cobweb. But that didn't disturbed him so he opened the next door. And here... there was Jack.

'Where is Maik???' asked Maik's mum again, 'I'm phoning the police now.', she said and took her mobile phone.

'Hello, who is speaking?', asked the policeman.

Maik's mum told all about Maik's mysterious disappearance. Half an hour later the policeman came.

'Sorry, but we can't do anything when it's dark. Tomorrow we can look for him. I'm really very sorry.'

Maik's mum started to cry. Her husband lie his arm on her shoulder. 'We're going to find him.', he whispered.

Jack pulled Maik outside. Suddenly there was a flash, it started to rain and thunder and Maik didn't like the mouldy stench- no, he hated it! Jack said: 'It will hurt now and you will become to a ghost. But I'm thirsty!' Jack laughed.

He wanted to bit into Maik's neck. But Maik reacted fastly: He took his chain with a cross and show that to Jack. There was a flash and he flew ten metres back. There was a flash again. Jack came towards Maik. Suddenly he had got a sword in his hand. With the sword he stripe Maik's arm. His jacket tear asunder and blood came out off the wound. Now it was really dangerouse: Maik had to made way because Jack was so bad that he wanted to murder Maik and drink his blood. Some minutes later Jack hit him with the sword at the neck. It hurted terrible. 'It's hopeless to fight with a vampire.', thought Maik but he didn't give up:

Suddenly he thought about a book about vampires. He read it some months ago. The hunter, who hunts vampires, always has got a stake to murder the vampires. He took a very coarse woodfelling and thought: 'I hope it works ,too. When it doesn't, you can't see your parents again!!!'

Jack ran closer and Maik push the stake to Jake's body. First it was very quiet. Then there were about 1000 of flashes and Jack shouted very loudly. After that there was a heap of dust – Jack was dead!!! But what was that??? Maik looked like a ghost! He was a ghost because the wound on his neck was so bad that he died.

'No!!!!!!', he shouted. 'I don't want to be a ghost! NO NO NO!' But it was like it was.

Some years later Maik accidental came to this place again. He knew: This night there is going to be a lunar eclipse. Some Minutes later it becomed to be dark: The moon slowly dissapeared. Maik had got a friendly feeling: It was so new so... He didn't knew it really. Then it was definitive dark. Maik sat on a very large root. He reminded of his parents and his little sister. She always was so nervous but now Maik missed her screaming. It was so familiar. A tear flowed on his cheek. After that the moon appeared again. And then ... Maik was a boy again. And he was in his room. The light of the moon made him to a normaly boy again! He went downstairs to his parents and what are they did? They sat on their chairs and looked like they didn't know that Maik was away for about six years. 'Why aren't they missig me? And why haven't I turned back to a normaly boy earlier?' Well, that did nobody know really...

Teresa Büsse

The mysterious place

For many years there were two boys called Robin and Jake. They lived in the nice village Hunglaton and everything was fine. But there was one place, they were forbidden to go to. The people from Hunglaton were mysterious about it because there was a problem. People, who visited it never came back. The two boys thought that their lives were really boring, so they wanted to make something dangerous and scary. It came up to their mind to go to the forbidden borough and try it out. One night in the dark snowy winter they started to walk northbound until they arrived the boundary. The boys were scared but after a while they went into the dark forest with high trees. They looked round but nothing moved. Jake said cool: "Robin I don't get that. Why are the Hunglatons so mysterious about this borough. Here isn't anything like..."

Suddenly they heard an engraged growl. "What have you meant about us? We aren't scary? We are going to show you how dangerous we can are." Robin and Jake took there knives out of their trousers but it was too late. The werewolfs jumped onto the boys quickly. The children screamed and tried to exemt from the strong claws, but it didn't work. The werewolfs brought the crying boys to a fireside. There were lots of creatures like elves, goblins and a unicorn around the large fire. In the middle the boys saw a little dirty witch. "Look Lucy. We found new booty. What can we do with them? Have you got an idea?" The witch laughed out as loudly as a rowing lion. "Of course, I have a great idea." "Don't do that. I'm sure. They aren't dangerous and they are so young.", said the unicorn friendly. The witch pull ropes around the boys. There after she cooked a magic potion. All over Robin's face were tears. "That was the end of their lives!", he thought. The witch sang happily and all the creatures danced around the fireside. All at once Jake heard a voice. "Be quiet. I'm going to save you. Don't move." The boys looked around carefully. It was a little dwarf with a tall nose, large ears and a small mouth. He tried to open the ropes. After a while the boys were free. They went out of the light behind the dwarf. Nobody noticed their liberation. "You're the best. Thank you so much. But how can we get home now?" , asked Robin nervous. "I know a secret tunnel." , answered the dwarf. It was a dark lonely tunnel and a long walk. Finally the boys saw light in the end. "We're living. Robin we're very courageous. Everyone will be proud.

Leonie Heindel

The scary witch

Once upon a time a wizard lived with his little black cat near a forest. Someday he went outside to find some wood for the heater, because it was very cold. Suddenly he heard a strange noise: "Hi, hi, hi!" He looked around but he couldn't see anything. Then there was something wet in his neck. The wizard looked on a tree. A scary witch sat there and cried: "Hey you, can you help me? I have changed my father into a wolf, so my mother exiled me to your country." The wizard answered: "O, you're a poor witch. And now you can't go back, right?" "Yes, and you must help me at once!", she screamed. He was very surprised but he answered: "Come to my house and tomorrow you will be back at your mum." The bad witch giggled and whispered to herself: "Stupid old man!" Loudly she said: "Oh thanks you're a very friendly wizard." But he had heard her whispering and was alarmed. They went to the wizard's house and talked about the next day. "Tomorrow I will look at my magic book and suddenly you'll be back home again.", the wizard promised. Then they went to bed but the wizard couldn't sleep well. In the night he dreamed about the scary witch, who had a knife in her hand and wanted to kill him. When he woke up in the next morning it smelled very strange in his laboratory. The wizard crept to the door and saw the bad witch preparing a toxic fluid. Suddenly she turned around and told him in a friendly voice: "Here my friend. Take this delicious fluid. It will be very good for you." The clever wizard pretended to take the glass with the strange fluid, but he grabbed the witch like lightning, opened her mouth with his fingers and she had to drink the toxic fluid herself. She cried very loud, but he ignored it, because in the early morning he had got an e-mail from the wizard club. It was written that there was a dangerous witch in the wizard's country who tried to kill all the wizards because she wanted to be the mightiest magician of the world.

Leonie Specking

Scary movie

Once upon a time there was a girl named Lotta. Her parents were actor and actress. Lotta lived in a big house with a wonderful garden. One day her mother and father got an e-mail from their chief. He wanted them to play in a very good film named "Starlight". Of course they said "yes" and so they were playing a long time. After ten days the girl noticed, that her parents were very strange. They were so busy! Lotta thought that they were not nice anymore. She said: "Mum, dad, what's wrong with you? You're so busy and strange!" But they didn't answer. Her dad only said: "It's nothing. Leave us alone!" Lotta was sad about that. She tried to speak to them as often as she could, but they said nothing. One day she followed her mum and dad to the set of the film. They played their rolls and everything was okay because they couldn't see Lotta. Suddenly, when the rehearsal was finished, they ran out of the room. Lotta followed them. Outside they changed their personality. After a few minutes her mother was a unicorn and her father was a werewolf, like their rolls in the movie. Lotta was very anxious! Her mum and dad were not nice. Green saliva was dripping from their mouth. Suddenly they walked in the direction, where Lotta was standing. She ran in the forest near the place where her parents were standing. She thought that it was a joke, but it wasn't. Her parents were monsters. They followed her daughter into the forest. They soon found her. Lotta was scared and said: "Hey mum, hey dad." Her voice trembled. "Ouah", her dad shouted, but her mum said: "I'm so sorry, darling! I wanted to say it to you, but I couldn't. These are our rolls in the movie. I don't know why it is so, but it's not very dangerous for you only for others! Now we hate our friends and everything that we liked so much. It's very sad. We only like you. Your father is nice, really. The problem is that he can't speak." Lotta answered: "Oh, mum. Are you dangerous? Do you change your personality? When? It's very sad you really don't know why it is so?" "No, we aren't dangerous and we change our personality. When, I don't know. Yesterday we changed after one hour. In this morning we changed after ten minutes. It's different. I really don't know why it is so, but-", she couldn't speak. She changed back to her real personality. Lotta cried because it was disgusting. They talked for ten minutes, but then, suddenly, something terrible happened. Two ghosts flew towards them. They were white and big. They had blood everywhere on their cloak. Their red lips and their green noses looked terribly. They said, with a very dark voice: "Hello Barbara, Remus. How are you?" Lotta watched her parents. They looked scared. Then her father said unfriendly:

Okay. What do you want, Berthoud?" "Oh, I want to nerve! Oh no, I want to kill you!" All at once the ghost flew quickly in Lottas direction. She cried and her father took his sword. Lotta doesn't know that he has one. The fight was very brutal and bloodthirsty, too. Sometimes Lotta heard something like: "Ah", "Oh", or "Au". She was so scared! Then Remus took his sword and stabbed it in the big green nose from one of the ghosts and after that in the bloody, red cloak. "Is the ghost dead?", asked Lotta anxious. "Yes, I think so. I'm so happy that I can speak. I can't speak when I'm a werewolf!" "Wush", the other ghost attacked Remus Golddang. He fell to the ground. Everywhere in his face was blood. He said: "Lotta, please take the sword and stab the other ghost. I can't." After these words Barbara was very sad. She thought that her man will die. But Lotta took the sword and stabbed it really hard in the other ghost.

Ten days later the rehearsals for the film stopped. Then, when Lottas parents didn't play, they were only their selves and not an other personality. Lotta thought that she was dreaming but it was real. Her parents were normally and the ghosts were dead. Everything was alright and she was very happy.

Marit ten Voorde

A TERRIBLE DREAM

Many years ago Frederike went into the forest , because she wanted to visit her grandmother, who lived on the other side of the forest. Frederike wanted to bring her a good wine. The forest was very dark and scary. She was very afraid, so she ran as fast as she could. After a while she saw the little house of her grandmother. She opened the door and called : "Grandmother! Grandmother! It´s me, Frederike! Where are you? I´ve got a good wine for you. It is a present from my mother. Where are you?" But her grandmother was not at home. So she went into the small, nice garden and looked for her. She called her grandmother for the third time, but nobody answered. Frederike could only see the wonderful flowers, which she liked so much. She went back into the kitchen of the house of her grandmother and sat down.

After half an hour she put the wine on the table and left the house. She wanted to go home and went into the forest. Because it was so dark, she got lost. Frederike was very afraid and began to cry. Suddenly she heard a woman´s cry. So the little girl ran to the place where the woman was crying. But then she stopped because she saw blood. Frederike followed the blood carefully. Then she cried . Her grandmother was lying on the ground- dead. The little girl was so sad. After a little time she stood up and ran very fast through the forest. " Who killed my grandmother? It´s so scary. Here in the forest is a murderer and maybe he will kill me, too, but I want to live." She ran and ran, but she could not find the way out of the dark, dark forest. Suddenly she saw a big shadow. It was not the shadow of a man or a woman. It was the shadow of a very, very big spider with long teeth and three eyes. Frederike ran faster and faster, but after 10 meters she fell to the ground. The big spider came nearer and nearer. Then Frederinke said:" Who are you? Have you killed my grandmother? Please let me go! Please, do not kill me, too." But the spider only said : " I am Dianna. Is he old woman your grandmother? She was not very delicious. I think you will not be very yummy, too, but I think I can try." Frederike was crying when the spider was coming nearer. " Please let me go! I do not want to die!!! PLEASE LET ME GO!" But Dianna the ugly spider only laughed. She wanted to beat her into the neck, to suck out Frederike´s blood. But in this moment a creature, which Frederike had never seen before, jumped on Dianna. The spider fell to the ground and the creature took the little girl on his back and rode away with her. "Who are you? And what are you? And who was the spider? And why wanted she to kill me? And why have she killed my grandmother? And where are you taking ma now? Everything is so terrible!!!", cried Frederike. The creature answered: " I am Ingo, the centaur. I`ll save you and I´ll take you home. Don´t worry my brothers have killed her."

"Frederike!!! Wake up!! I´m home from the supermarket!", her grandmother said. Why are you here? You are dead! The spider Dianna has killed you in the forest. Are you a ghost?", Frederike asked. The grandmother answered: "I am not dead! It was only a dream! Do not worry! I am alive. And I never was in the forest. It was only a dream! A Scary, terrible dream."

By Johanna Godek and Julia Kleine-Bley (7c)

Maigrahsia

Prologue:

„But Sir, your Highness, won't it be dangerous?“ „Shut up, Gordon, a transformation into a big black big creature with red eyes and long pointed horns and greenish slime dropping out of his mouth ..... . Of course it will be dangerous. But in this case it's worth it. At least it is about the worlds rule. I want to be the only one, the sole ruler of both worlds, the humans' one and our world of magic, Maigrahsia. I will fulfill my plans, whatever it costs, Ha, ha, ha .....“.

It was a friday night, when Sue Gilmour went to bed, she took her favorite book and began to read. The book was about a fantastic magic world, where nasty wizzards, huge giants, mystic centaurs and other magic creatures came alive. It was getting late and Sue became tired. She closed the book and put it on the bedside table, turned off the lights and began to sleep ...

At 12 o'clock in the night Sue suddenly woke up, because she heard a very strange noise from her bedside table. She sat up and stared. Her book was open and there was a strange light coming out of the pages. Suddenly the light went off. At once she turned on her bedside lamp.

Out of the pages there came a black and evil smelling big creature. Its bloody yes saw around. Sue started trembling with fear. The huge creature looked Sue in the face and started to laugh. Sue screamed and closed her eyes and the creature was gone.

„What happened ,Sue, my darling?“ She opened her eyes. There was her mom, her dad and her little brother. Her father looked half asleep. Sue breathed heavily. „What was that for a thing“ she asked herself and had no answer.

„What happened?“ her mother asked again. But Sue couldn't answer. „Did you had a bad dream, my dear?“ her father asked. She shook her head. „Well I for myself want to sleep again“, said her brother and left her room. „The best will be, that you are going to sleep again too ! Okay, my darling?“ Sue nodded.

But when her mother and father left her, she couldn't fall asleep anymore. She was always thinking of the big black creature entering her room.

In the following afternoon Sue brought her book into the kitchen and left it there on the kitchenette because she was afraid of the big black creature would come back again out of the pages of the book.

After she had dinner with the family she went to bed without reading in the book. While she was sleeping she had a bad nightmare. In her dream she had to fight the black creature, she abruptly woke up covered in sweat.

She got up and went downstairs to have a glass of cold water. While drinking she had a look around in the kitchen. To her astonishment there was something flickering in the air above the kitchenette. Coming nearer she noticed a little girl who was only four to five inches of height.

The little person was hovering in free air and was dressed in a pink robe made of what looks like petals of a pink lily. She realized too that the little girl had violet eyes. In her right hand she held a golden rod with a golden sparkling tip. The little thing turned around and noticed that she was not alone anymore and gave out a little scream. Then she said with a trembling voice: „Oh, Princess Sue ! Your royal majesty , you are here ! All saints ! What honor for me ... !“

„Eh, I don't want to be impolite, but ... who are you?“ replied Sue. „But your majesty, I am Violet Bell and I am a flower fairy. I have this name because of the colour of my eyes.“ She made a bow again.

„Well, my name is Sue Gilmour and I'm just a normal pupil of the East-High. I don't know, but I have never seen a being like you before, where are you from?“

„I am from Alhambra, the biggest town in my land called Maighrahsia“.

„Alhambra ? Maighrahsia ? What's that?“ , Sue asked. The fairy answered: “ Sorry, I myself I'm not so good in our History. I think we'll need Joan for that!“.

„Do you speak about me?“ another voice was heard. Sue turned around and saw a little boy of the same size than Violet Bell standing on the fridge. He was fairhaired with pointed ears and blue eyes. The boy looked at Sue and said: „ Hi, my name is Joan Hooley and .... . Holy mule, she is it. Oh no, I can't believe it ..... !“

„Can anybody tell me what's going on here?“ Sue yelled becoming a bit angry.

„Alright then, I try!“ started Violet Bell.

„In our kingdom a many years ago there was a king named Peter, the Kind. He fell in love with a girl and made her his queen. They became a little daughter and they named her Sue. They would all have been very lucky if there had not been Graham, the Terrible.

Prince Graham was the younger brother of the king and before Sue was born he was next to the throne. So he was very, very jealous and furious of the little innocent royal successor, our Princess Sue. The little girl was standing between him and the throne. This little child were you !!“

There was a long pause, then Sue said with a scratchy voice: „ That cannot be, I'm not a princess. There must be a misunderstanding!“ Sue's voice became more and more hysterical with every word.

Joan and violet looked very concerned and serious. Sue starred at them,“ You are really serious, you are not making fun of me. You really believe I am that princess in your history ....?“ Both nodded.

Joan continued.“ Well, ok ! Many years ago Graham made an attempt to attack you. Although you were a child, he hired an assassin to kill you. The vicious plan of Graham failed. King and Queen were so worried about your future.

The king was so kind and peaceful, he couldn't punish his brother. But he knew that his evil brother wouldn't change. So he made a decision together with his wife and he abdicatet and left Maighrahsia to live a normal live here in New York.

So Graham, the Terrible took over the rule. But he wasn't content because most of our people was still loyal to his brother the rightful King Peter, the Kind. Over the years we got to know that Graham still wants to kill you to be secure. So we come here to search for you and to protect and warn you“.

„But how do you got here, I never heard of Maighrahsia!“ Sue asked. „It is another world, we came here by using the magic cubboard of your father, it took so long because we had to search for another key for years“.

„But what should we do against Graham, how can we win ?“ Sue replied. „The legend says that Graham has a heart of stone. You my, beloved highness, you are by family a fire-fairy. You can stop Graham with your own magic, you can melt his heart of stone“, Violet explained.

„You are crazy, I have no magical powers, I am just a normal human beeing!“ said Sue. „You are not and I will reveal your magical abilities. You can do it, I know it, because you are princess Sue. Look at that vase on the table. Look at it and think of melting it, just try hard and concentrate !“, demanded the flower fairy.

Sue looked at the vase, closed her eyes and focused her mind will. Nothing happened. „You have to try harder, you have to imagine the scene“, Joan yelled.

Sue closed her eyes again. She produced the image and then ... the table started to smell burned. After another effort Sue opened the eyes and she saw the Vase glowing like ember. She tried again and again and then the vase liquefied and dropped like lava from the table. She felt pride and happiness and she had the impression that her inner self was free now. Violet and Joan grinned very content.

Suddenly there was a loud roar and the same big black creature crawled out of Sue's book, which was still lying on the kitchenette. After leaving the book completely the monster transformed into a big evil looking man with black hair and pale face. He was smiling evil and Sue could see huge and yellowish teeth in his opened mouth.

„It's Graham, run for your life !“, the little ones cried, „ you are not ready yet!“ Sue opened the kitchen door to the garden and ran into the darkness. She realized that the evil black prince was close on her heels. After some moments Sue panted, she couldn't run any further, but she had to. Suddenly she tripped and fell to the ground.

Graham was only few feet away, he had a triumphant expression in his ugly face. Sue heard a little whisper in her ear, Violet and Joan were sitting on her shoulders, „You have to try, we know, You can do it. Try it now !!“

Sue imagined to melt Graham's dark and hard heart like butter in the sun. „It has to melt, it has to melt“, she thought again and again. After some moments she heard a howling in front of her. She opened her eyes and she saw Graham and she noticed that green hot lava was gushing out his mouth. His body was coiling. He shouted: „ Oh no, I want to be the ruler of Maighrahsia and all other worlds for ever and ever. Oh nooooo !!!“ There was a huge explosion and then abruptly silence.

Sue sat in the grass with the little fairies on her shoulders. Graham was gone. In front of her there was a greenish hot skull out of cooling of lava.

„We did it, we did it,“ Sue shouted out loudly. „We knew you were the one, your royal highness,“ Violet and Joan replied proudly. „You and the rest of the royal family can now freely and secure return to Maighrahsia. And in time your father will join his ancestors, you will be our Queen.“

Kidnapping

It was a wonderful, sunny day and Giedel and Fiedel played together at a little pond in the little village where they lived. Giedel and Fiedel were friends since they were three years old. On this day Giedel said: "Come on Fiedel! Let's go out of the village and play there!" "But our parents said that we mustn't do this!" "But our parents are not here right?" "Yes." "So we can go." "Well... ok." So they went out of the village to a forest. Suddenly when they wanted to play hide and seek a dark creature came fast towards them. It took Fiedel and ran with him in his hands into the forest. Giedel was very frightened when he saw that the creature had taken his best friend. He wanted to go home to his parents and tell them what happened but then he thought that they would be very angry with him and they wouldn't let him play with Fiedel anymore. So he went afraid into the forest. In there it was dark and cold but Giedel had to find his friend so he went on. And then after a long walk and half an hour later he suddenly saw lots of black figures around him. They had red eyes and you could see the bones under their skin. Giedel was very scared and wanted to take his sword but his hands were so shaky that it fell to the ground. The figures came nearer and nearer. Giedel's body shaked so much that he could not move, he just stood there and couldn't do anything. Then Giedel saw him behind one of the black creatures. He was tied to a big tree, next to him stood the biggest black creature that Giedel had ever seen. At this moment there was a flash. And suddenly all black figures were away. Only the biggest figure stood still next to the tree. Giedel looked slowly around. Then there was a second flash and the big figure was away, too. Giedel ran quickly to his friend and untied him. Fiedel was very happy that Giedel found him. "What was it? Who made the flash?", asked Fiedel. "I don't know. But he, she, or it is very nice because without its help we wouldn't be alive anymore." "Yeah. Your right!", said Fiedel. So the two friends went home. Their parents were angry with them but when Giedel and Fiedel told them what happened they were a little bit proud, too. And Giedel and Fiedel had to promise that they never go out of the village anymore.

Isabell Wiesker

Help

can survive. But the chance that I survive isn't big. I must try it!

Tinka wanted to sneak away but a slippery hand hold her fast. "Big Ben, I have got the fire elf. Here, come and see!" There was a gigantic troll who held Tinka. In the next moment happened three things.

1. Tinka cried and screamed so loud she could. 2. The gigantic troll held back his ears and Tinka fell down. 3. Tinka ran away. As she ran three metres the trolls marked that Tinka ran away. And the persecution began. Their red eyes shined evil and out of their mouth came yellow blood. They came to Tinka. They ran to Tinka. They flew to Tinka. Tinka ran. Faster and faster. Her legs felled like cement. She couldn't run more. But she must. Everywhere there were trolls. Tinka screamed loud, so loud she could. A big troll caught the elf. He roared happy. The other trolls looked and roared, too. They bound Tinka on a tree. She thought that she hasn't got a chance to survive but a ghost saw Tinka and flew to Zap.

Zap couldn't sleep. He always thought about his friend. Why didn't she come? Suddenly he heard a noise. "Zap, Zap there is a fire elf! You must help her! There are trolls! I think the fire elf is Tinka!!! Go, she is in the forest by a waterfall. Go, Zap! Good Luck!" There was a ghost and he cried! Zap jumped up, took his lamp and flew into the forest. He thought: I hope I can save Tinka. Oh Tinka! Why didn't she hear about me?! How can I help her? What trolls don't like? I know, fire! That is it.

Tinka was bound on a tree. Some trolls stood around her. Some other trolls made a soup. Big Ben stood aside and talked with two gigantic trolls. Tinka cried but nobody helped her. She looked around. There was the waterfall and there were trees-only trees. No, there was an owl! There was Zap! At the moment zap looked to Tinka and his eyes were wonderful. Tinka knew what Zap wanted to say to her. She must be quit. She nodded. Zap took his lamp and let it loose. The lamp fell down on the ground and there were a little fire. Zap took some wood. He took it to the fire. Now the fire was gigantic. Zap took down into a bush near Tinka. A troll perceived the fire. He screamed: "Ah, a fire! There is a fire! Help, I need help! Ah!" All trolls ran around and nobody perceived Zap. He sneaked to Tinka and unbound her. After he helped her, they sneaked together away. By Zaps house Tinka embraced her friend. "Oh Zap, you have saved my life! Thanks!"

"Oh Tinka, now is all right! We live and we are best friends!"
Hannah Raschke

Just reading a fairytale...

Today, I want to tell you a fairytale. Maybe it's not a real fairytale with princesses and so on, but kind of. All fairytales begin with four words- you know which words I mean? Right, the four words 'once upon a time!' And because this is a fairytale, I will start with these words.

Once upon a time, there was a freaky, nice, but shy girl named Avril, who was 13 years old. She had fair, terraced, pink-dyed hair, which reached to her back. But- I said already- she was very shy. Her hobbies were cuddling with her Golden Retriever Brandy and reading books-many books in all kind of stories: Fantasy stories, love stories, mangas... Now, she was reading a book, (which she bought only yesterday) about dragons, which was like manga, but not really. It was like a comic, but like a novel, too. And it looked so old- not like other new books. It looks, like it was for centuries in a dirty chamber. It was very strange and dilly, but Avril liked old things. In the bookstore, she looked through the book and found out, that the last pages were lost! She asked the shop assistant, who didn't know, too. He said that the book wasn't there, before she came. Although it was very scary and Avril got gooseflesh, she wanted the book, because she liked mangas and it was mysterious. A voice in her head said, that she had to buy it. Finally, she got it for a cheaper price than the real price. Anyway, the girl Ayumi in that book (or manga) was Avril very similar, because she was freaky, funky and nice, but shy, so Avril liked her very much. She often dreamed about to get in that book, but she knew, that that was just fantasy.

So one day, she sat in her room and read that book again. Her mum was shopping and her dad was at work. She read it and felt, like she was witnessing the adventure. Oh, stop, I didn't tell you what happens in the book, but I will just tell you so far as Avril read. So there is that girl Ayumi and she is like Avril. She is very shy, but she wants to be famous and have more friends. She only has got one very best friend: Sakura.

Yes, Avril was at the beginning of the book. She didn't know, what happens next and she was going on. She was at a part, where Ayumi was at school and she thought, that she heard noises, like she was at Ayumi's school, but she was so engrossed in the book, that she wasn't surprised that she heard noises...' Hey Ayumi! Ayumi? Ayumi!!!! ' 'What?! Where am I?' Avril asked surprised and afraid. 'Ayumi, are you o.k? It's me, Sakura!' 'Yes Me... I'm OK...but h...how can that be?' Avril stuttered, when she apprehended, that she was in the book, in the part of Ayumi! 'What can how be? Are you really OK?' Sakura asked afraid. 'Yes...I don't know...' Avril said. She felt really a bit dimly. So she said assured:' I think, I'm going to go home and stay there, today.' 'Shall I go with you?' Sakura asked carefully. 'No, I can go home alone.' Avril said fast. Sakura looked at Avril doubtfully. 'OK, then bye.' 'Yes, bye Sakura.' Avril said. Avril went away, without to cogitate. She went on and on and suddenly, she was in a forest! She was scared: It was a bit dark and nobody was there! And she also didn't know, what happens next, so she wanted to go to her sweet home to her family back and cuddling Brandy, but she didn't know how. She ran desperately away and on and on and on... until she was tired of running, and she was so desperate, that she bagged next to a tree and began to cry.

Avril thought: 'What have I done? Why am I here? Why am I in the book? I was just in my room and now...!' Avril screamed loudly: Something touched her arm! She got gooseflesh. Then she heard a quiet, but somehow comforting grumble... 'Can I help you?' someone with a deep voice asked carefully. Avril didn't think anything and then everything was dark...

Avril was confused. Why was it so dark? She wants to get out of the darkness, but something nuzzled her. Somewhen she felt, like she got out of it. She blinked: She saw a graceful, wild dragon! Was she dreaming? Everything here was so baffling and confounding! But then the darkness attacked her again and she had to battle against it... 'Hey, you, wake up! I'm not doing anything! No fear!' Avril heard the deep voice again. She opened her eyes: She saw a dragon again, but rather ambiguously than clearly. And somehow she didn't fear! Quite the contrary, she wanted to touch it! 'Are you awake, now?' Avril got a bit frightened, but not really. That surprised her, because otherwise she was very shy. So she said surprised: 'Yes, I'm awake, now.' She looked down to her feet, because she was abashed. Then she saw it: She wore Ayumi's shoes! No, better, she wore her clothes! The whole time she was so excited, that she didn't noticed it! Avril always wished that she had the clothes of Ayumi, because they were so trendy, and somehow freaky. She liked the style of Ayumi. 'Who are you?' The dragon broke into Avril's thoughts. 'Oh, I... I'm Av...sorry... Ayumi.' Avril stuttered. 'Hello, Ayumi, I'm Draco.' The dragon said and looked at Avril sceptically. 'Are you new here?' Avril couldn't say anything. She was at a loss for words. 'I saw you crying, so I went to you. But now you have to go away, because this place isn't safe enough for you.' Draco continued. 'Why do you know, that I'm new here?' Avril asked surprised. 'First, we have to go away from here. I explain it to you later. Climb on my back.' Draco called Avril on. He bended forward, so that Avril could climb on him. So Avril climbed on Draco and she was excited: It was so high and great! Her stomach prickled. 'Hold on me well!' Draco commands her. He began to run. First, he ran slowly, but by the time, he ran faster and faster and...he FLEW! Avril's jaw bone came off. She couldn't say anything. Somewhen they landed and Avril climbed off. That, what Avril saw, was so beautiful. It was a beach with the blue sea. 'Why are we here?' Avril asked. 'You have many questions Ayumi, which I will answer you right now. Let us begin with the question: 'why do I know, that you're new here?' The answer is: I was a human, too.' Draco lay down on the ground and Avril sat down. She couldn't say anything again. Draco continued: Many years ago, I was a happy boy. I was young, just like you. My name was Brooklyn, called Brooky. I liked to read mangas, too. So I read the manga, that you have read before you came in it, and suddenly, I was in it! Then, I ran and ran and ran... until I was in a forest... in the forest. You know, the forest, where we have been a little while ago. And suddenly, there was an ugly witch. She said: 'I don't want to be a witch, anymore. I was a woman, but then a bane came over me. I give you the bane, now. You will be a dragon forever.' But she said also, that I have to...' Draco interrupted. Avril, who the whole time has listened to Draco, asked carefully: 'Yes?' 'I have to...to kiss a girl, who is a human. Then I will be a human again.' Draco looked on the ground. 'That means...you...you have to kiss me?' Avril stuttered embarrassed. 'Yes, only then the ban will be broken.' Draco said, also embarrassed. After that, no one said a word. It was dead silence, for a moment. Draco broke the silence: 'Over and above, your name can't be Ayumi.' 'Why do you know that?' Avril asked surprised. 'My best friend is Ayumi.

Do you remember, that when you bought the book, the shop assistant said, that the book wasn't there, before you came? The book was only for you. Ayumi wanted that you come here, because you are like her, so that I can break the ban. So how is your name?' Draco asked. Avril was at a loss for words. Finally she said: 'My real name is Avril.' 'Great name. That means 'opening the flowers'.' Draco said admiring. 'I have only got one question: What is this all? Is it real? Magic? A Fairytale?' Avril asked. 'I don't know, too.' Draco said. He daydreamed a bit. Suddenly, Avril fondled Draco in a loving way, carefully. And then she kissed him on the lips. A long time, but it was great. She liked him so... 'WOSH!' Suddenly, a boy was standing right in front of her! 'Thanks, Avril!' He said with a young, beauty voice happily. Avril looked around her...'we are at my home, Draco!' 'Oh, call me Brooky. Then I have to go home...you know: your parents.' Brooklyn said. 'No, my parents are shopping. You can stay here for a few minutes.' Avril becalmed him. She looked down and saw the manga... with Ayumi, who blinked to her! 'Brooky, Ayumi is here!' Avril called Brooklyn. Brooklyn looked down to the manga, too... and saw that glittering tears were rolling down Ayumi's face. But Ayumi wasn't sad- she was happy. Brooklyn was crying, too, because he was so happy. Brooklyn waved Ayumi and Ayumi waved back. And then Ayumi disappeared. Avril wiped the tears of Brooklyn. Then Avril asked: 'What happens next?' Brooklyn answered: 'I think, we just have to look in the manga and then we'll know. 'They took a look, but there were pages, without pictures and texts! Then Avril remembered: When she bought it, there were no pages anymore! 'Why are there pages? When I bought the book, the pages at the end were lost!' Avril said wondered. Suddenly Brooklyn jumped up: 'I think, we have to fill these pages.' He looked at Avril and she looked at him. They both looked to the manga... it filled with pictures itself! The colours bespattered the manga. 'I...I love you.' Avril said. Then they kissed again, for a long time. 'I love you, too.' Brooklyn whispered into Avril's right ear. 'But I have to go now. Your mum will be right back. I give you this ring. It keeps us together. When you want to be with me, just wear this ring. It takes you to me.' He gave her a beautiful, coloured ring. 'Thank you, Brooky. Bye!' 'Bye, Avril!' Brooklyn disappeared. Then Avril heard the jingle of the keys. 'Avril! I'm back! What are you doing? Can you give Brandy something to eat?' Avril's mother shouted. 'I'm just reading a fairytale and yes, I can give Brandy something to eat' Avril answered. And before she ran out of her room, she took a look at her hand: It was real, she hold the ring in her hand. Then she took a look at the manga: It closed itself.

Joelle Huynh

Troll-Attack!

Once upon a time there were some dwarfs, which lived in a big, old, hollow tree near a wonderful blue pond. They loved their home, but not far away from that, there were terrible trolls living in a cold, dark cave. The trolls wanted to have the tree for their home, but the dwarfs were strong...

One day Annita, a very self-confident, pretty dwarf, went to the queen and the king of the dwarfs. The palace was made of many large mushrooms inside of the tree. Annita climbed up to the fungus, and then she stood in front of two soldiers. "I want to talk to the king," she explained them. "Who are you?" one of the soldiers asked. "I'm Annita. I'm from the Green Lake family. I've got a problem..." answered Annita. "Oh, Annita..." one soldier looked to the other.

"Who's there?" asked a voice from a higher mushroom. "Annita, from the Green Lake family," answered Annita. "Oh," the voice said, "... come up!" The soldiers went to the side, so Annita could pass. She climbed up to the next mushroom, and there was the queen. Annita looked around, but she couldn't find the king. So she asked: "Madam, where is your husband?" "He's got an important meeting..." the queen answered. Annita sighed and then said: "My problem is that my clan hasn't got enough water. Some water pipes are stuffed, so most of the water doesn't arrive, and..." "Oh, I'm very sorry," the queen told her. "I think then you'll have to work a bit..." Annita looked angry. "We need help! We haven't got enough tools and no workers and..." "Stop that!" shouted the queen. "I'll ask my husband, when he's got time for you." "But we need your help NOW!" Annita cried. "I'll see later what I can do for you. Go now!" "But..." "I've asked you to go!" the queen shouted angrily. Annita went red in the face but finally she went away.

In the Green Lake clan the dwarfs got angry. Lots of them wanted to drink something, they got very thirsty. Finally one of the dwarfs went to the pond. It wasn't very far, but dwarfs are very small, so it took some time...

Annita had left the tree and she went to a little bush. She climbed on it and looked around. Suddenly, she heard a strange noise, and there, just one or two yards away, there were a lot of trolls! Annita jumped down from the bush. Her left arm got hurt but she could stand up. She ran to the tree very fast. When she arrived at the tree, she jumped on the mushroom palace, she passed the soldiers and stopped, when she saw the king. "Oh, his majesty..." The king stopped and listened to Annita. "The... the trolls are coming! They'll be here very soon!" The king didn't think a long time, he just turned round and shouted: "All soldiers to the entrance! Close the gate!"

Annita climbed down and went to the old car wheel in which the Green Lake clan was living. She watched the soldiers who were closing the gate. Suddenly she saw a little dwarf running to the gate from outside! He was from her clan! "Stop!" She shouted to the soldiers, but nobody heard her. So she ran through the men and out of the tree. The young dwarf was crying. He was holding two bottles of water in his hands. "Silly boy!" Annita shouted to him when she arrived where he was standing. The boy stopped and fell. "Don't cry!" Annita shouted. "Stand up! Come on!" The boy sniffed and stood up then. Together Annita and the boy ran towards the gate. The trolls were behind them. Annita could hear their terrible voices. "Run faster!" she shouted. They passed the gate, before it was closed. No troll could come in. All the dwarfs cheered and the trolls had to give up. The tree was safe for the next years.

Annita and the young dwarf went to the car wheel of the Green Lake clan. "Annita!" shouted a loud voice. Annita turned round. A soldier stood in front of her. He was exhausted and his right arm looked hurt. "The king and the queen want to meet you at the palace. They want to..." the soldier said but Annita had already left. She went to the palace with self-confident taps. When she arrived at the second mushroom of the building, the king and the queen were expecting her. They looked happy and the king smiled when he saw her. "Annita," he started, "I and my wife just want to thank you for saving our nation! I'm really..." "All right, all right!" Annita interrupted him, "That was no problem for me! My real problem is that my clan hasn't got enough water!" said Annita angrily. The queen wanted to say something but the king anticipated her: "Oh, that's no problem! Our inventor of the Fire clan has invented a new machine! You can suck all out of a pipe with it! Of course, first you'll have to get the pipe out of the water and then..." "That isn't the real problem!" said the queen, "we haven't got so many workers! All our soldiers were injured, because the trolls have fired a little bomb. Of course the gate has stopped it, but..."

"We will work!" said Annita. "It's our problem, so we will do that." "Okay!" agreed the king. "If you work we'll give you some tools and you can clean the pipes on your own." "That's best, I think," said the queen. "Because then nobody will be angry and you'll have enough water!"

Clara Lefering

A Magic Crystal Sphere

Once upon a time there were two little dwarfs. Mandy and Lilly lived in an old castle. One evening Lilly was very tired so they went to bed early. At midnight Mandy woke up. She heard a strange noise. "Mandy, do you hear that?" she whispered. Mandy woke up, too but she didn't hear a noise. Suddenly there was this noise again and this time Mandy could hear it, too. Mandy jumped out of her bed and said: "I think it's coming from the cellar. I go there." Lilly and Mandy went into the cellar but there was nothing wrong. They looked around and then Lilly found an old chest. "Mandy, look there. I've never seen this chest before." She said. Mandy went to Lilly and opened the chest. There were two things: a book and a crystal sphere. She took the book and the crystal sphere and blew away the dust on the book. "Open it!" Lilly said and Mandy did it. Then everything happened so fast that they both became unconscious. After a long time Mandy woke up first and noticed that they weren't in their cellar anymore. "Lilly, wake up! Where are we?" she asked. In the big room was one little window and from there came a noise like there was a street party. Lilly and Mandy stood up and walked to the window. There was really a street party. "Lilly, where are we? Maybe the book has brought us in the past." Mandy whispered. Lilly answered: "I really don't know where we are. But maybe the book could bring us back in our cellar. I hope so, I'm really afraid." Mandy and Lilly walked back to the book. It was open and Mandy read out: "When you open this book you will come in –" A loud scream from the street interrupted her. The walls began to shake and then there were more than one screams on the street. "What's happening?" Lilly asked but Mandy couldn't hear her. She went to the window and saw a red big dragon. Its teeth were as big as Mandy's arms. On his back sat a little dwarf like Mandy and Lilly. Lilly knew who he was. He was bad, very bad. She had read a book about him. His name was Harry and he wanted to conquer the whole world. "Mandy, we have to come away from here!" Lilly shouted as loud as she could and ran to the book. Mandy was already at the book and tried to read something out of it. Suddenly the big dragon was in front of the window and spewed out flames in the room. Everything burned now. Lilly screamed and dropped the book. Mandy took it and hid behind a shelf. She opened the book and read: To get to your home you need the crystal sphere. Say the words "Bring us back", hold the crystal sphere in both hands and you will get back. Mandy closed the book. "Lilly, come here and bring the crystal sphere." She whispered. Lilly was on the ground, she could not move without be in flames. "I can't!" She screamed to Mandy. But then she saw a little void. She stood up, took the crystal sphere and ran to Mandy. Mandy took the crystal sphere in both hands and said: "Bring us back" but nothing happened. "Oh, no. It doesn't work." She said. The fire diffused and the book shelf began to burn slowly. Then Lilly took the book, put it on her lap and opened it. Then she took the crystal sphere in both hands and screamed: "BRING US BACK!" Lilly and Mandy became unconscious again and were suddenly in their cellar again.

The next day they burned the book in the fireplace and melted the crystal sphere.

Inessa Isinger

The shadow

The dead forests were darker than dark at night. No moon shadow, no star light, nothing. But, no, there was a little shining between the trees. A little girl with a lamp went through the forest. Just a little bit of candle light the girl had. It sat down. Her clothes were worn and her long, brown hair was dirty. Suddenly she heard a noise: "Uahh, arggruah!!!", the little girl was frightened and screamed. Then she saw the creature. It was a Bullock!!! He had a horrible face, a big sword and red eyes! The girl tried to run away, but the Bullock held her leg. "Help! Help me!", she screamed, but there was no help, so she closed her eyes and waited for her end. "Uahh, uahh, gruah!!!", suddenly the Bullock shouted and fell down. BUMM!!! There was an arrow in his neck. An arrow, with a rose, a red one! The girl looked around her, but she just saw the trees and the darkness. She took her candle and ran away. From the dark trees a man came out. A man with worn clothes and boots, with a cape, an arrow and a bow and a rose, a red one! And there was another person, a woman with long blond hair and a friendly face! "Bullocks!", the man named Paka said and looked at the giant. "Yes,", the woman named Tarbien said, "from now on the dead forest isn't safe!"

Three hours later in west-world. A Bullock went to a big door of a tower, who was two hundred meters high. The Bullock opened the iron door and walked along a high floor with out any windows. The ground was dirty and black. His big feet stomp on the floor so loud, that it made BUMM! BUMM! BUMM! Then he stood in front of another gigantic gate. He knocked and the gate opened. There was an armchair in the room and in front of it was a chimney. On the left side were very high shelves with many, many books. Suddenly the armchair turned around and a figure appeared. Like an awful pumpkin the head seemed. Under it was a cloak, a black cloak with some holes in it. The feet looked like those from a werewolf. "My lord," the Bullock said and bowed for him, "there is a person in the dead forest, äh, no...two persons!" "I don't care!!!", the pumpkin said and stood up. "What are you doing here?", the pumpkin shouted! "My lord, Dumpfback is dead! Hainy and Lurni found him this afternoon. In his neck was an arrow with a rose! A red one!!!...Who can be that?" "PAKA! This stupid brother. Every day he kill my servants!" "Äh, my lord? Paka is your BROTHER?" "Yes! When we were children, we were good brothers, and good friends, too. But then a girl arrived. Tarbien...Uahh!!! Paka fell in love with her and I was envious. So I started fighting him!!! So, that's all now! Go away!" "My lord..." "GO AWAY, I said!!!", the pumpkin screamed, "Huch!", the Bullock ran away and pumpkin sank back in his armchair.

In east worl, in the morning. Paka woke up and walked a little bit around. "PAKA!!!", someone shouted, "PAKA!!!", Tarbien ran to him and said:"BULLOCKS! Fifty Bullocks are in the near of the dead forest! We must go there and stop them! QUICK!!!"

Paka and Tarbien ran as fast, as they could! "Let ´s gooo!", Paka shouted and cut one Bullock up his head! Paka, Tarbien and all the fourty nine Bullocks disappeard in a dust cloud.

BING BANG BUFF

"Tarbien? Tarbien!!! Tarbien where are you?", Paka ran through all the dead Bullocks and screamed all the time:"TARBIEN!!!"

Then he found her. With a sword in her breast and one dagger in her left leg, she lied in front of a tree. "NO!", Paka whispered and hold her hand. She looked at him and exhausted:"Paka,...I love you! I love...love..", then she stopped and didn´t move any more. "NO! NO!!!!", Paka screamed!"Don´t go! Nooo!!!"

He sat by Tarbien for a long time and cried, when suddenly he heard voices:"Äh...Lurni...is this the dead forest?" "Yes Punky, it is!!!" "Aaah, I don´t want to go in there!" "PUNKY!!!" "Bullocks", he thought, gave Tarbien a last kiss and then, Paka ran away.

The rest of his life, Paka was fightening towards his brother, the pumpkin and the Bullocks.

The people named him "the rosefighter". They say, that he was the best fighter who was living in 1309, but they also say, that he was unfriendly and. that he didn´t know anything about "LOVE"!!! But that, we better know!

Eva Baumeister

The fantasy animal Puff and the real person Elizabeth

It was a wonderful day. Puff, the unicorn was a friendly horse. She loved people, but they mustn't see her. Puff lived in a dark forest. Every night there were two vampires, which attacked Puff and wanted to drink her blood. But there was Elizabeth, too. She lived in a farm near the forest. She loved fantasy animals. Every night she read a book about unicorns, elves, owles and ghosts. One day she played football with her brother on the grass in front of the farm. Suddenly Tom scored the ball far away into the forest. Elizabeth was very angry with Tom. She knew about the dark forest. On some nights she couldn't sleep because of this. But the ball was expensive and she knew that her parents when she lost the ball, so she went into the dark forest. Tom was too frightend, he didn't come with her. In this moment, Puff ate apples. It was a bit dark and only now Puff was frightend of the vampires. But, what was this? The vampires? Puff's body shacked. It was behind a tree. And ... , it was a little girl, Elizabeth. Puff was happy, but people musted think that she didn't live. Elizabeth saw her and fell to the ground. Some hours ago Puff wackted her up. Elizabeth was frightend of the horse, but she knew that she haven't be frightend of her. Then she stood up. She looked in her eyes. And she saw that the horse scared something. Suddenly Puff said that Elizabeth have to go away, back at home. She said that it is dark and they are going to come. "Vampires?", Elizabeth screamed. "Yes, so go away, far away, run". But Elizabeth did not run away, she wanted to know more about Puff and of the vampires. And also Puff was happy that she was not alone, she did not want that the little girl ran away. But she did not want that they kill her. "Please, I know you are frightend and I know that you will not be alone. I know how vampires are thinking. I can help you". So Puff told her about the vampires and they were talking and talking about a plan how they can stop the vamoires. It was very dark and it was time for the vampires and time for the plan for them. "Stamp, stamp, stamp". Someone came. Now they saw them. They looked dangerous and they were dangerous. They wanted to attack Puff, but they looked at Elizabeth. Suddenly Puff was in front of Elizabeth. She wanted to protect her. And then they attacked Puff really. They opened their mouthes with their dangerous theeths. They really wanted to drink her blood. Elizabeth was shocked. But what was with their plan? "Elizabeth, now", said Puff. Elizabeth knew what Puff meant, so she pulled the rope and suddenly a net was going up with the two vampires. This was going fantastic. But what was then? Well, the two vampires were in the net as the sun was coming up and then they died in the sun. Puff and Elizabeth were said, but it had to be, or they are going to kill others. So, Elizabeth found the ball and she and Puff wanted to be friends for the future. The parents were happy to see Elizabeth, but they were also angry. But that what Elizabeth done was good for all.

Evelyn Koschke

Elfs and humans

Mary walked along the river. She stopped at the edge of the forest at the dead tree and waited some minutes. Then Florence arrived. Two boys went next to her. 'Hi Mary! These are my brothers, Loomis and Nicholas.', she said. 'Hi Florence.', Mary said, 'and hello to you, too you two!' The two boys watched Mary reverentially. 'Don't look at Mary like that!', Florence said to Loomis and Nicholas and to Mary: 'Sorry, but it's the first time, that they see a human.' 'No problem! I think it's so terrible that only the ten oldest of the elfs and humans can visit.' 'Yes! So, let us hurry up and go into the forest.', Florence shouted and the four kids ran into the forest. They had a lot of fun together. They climbed on a tree and where very quiet and then...came a unicorn. The four children followed it slowly. After a while it stopped...and turned to the kids! 'Hello', it said, well, he said: Now the kids could see that it was a man. (Men had silver eyes and women had golden eyes.) 'Er...aren't you frightened???' , Florence asked. 'No, I'm not.' 'But why?' , Loomis asked. 'You are elfs and a human girl together. That means, that you are special. That's the reason, why I need your help. Come with me, please!' Mary looked at Florence. She nodded and Mary, Florence, Loomis and Nicholas followed the unicorn into the forest. They didn't notice that it was darker and darker and the trees were higher and higher.

'Where's Mary?' , asked Mrs. Baker. Her husband went up and down, up and down. 'It's eleven o'clock now!' , said Mrs. Baker. 'I told her to come at six!' , her husband said, 'she said, that she wanted to go into the forest with this Florence. And Harry spoke about werewolves!' 'And there are werewolves, too!' , Mrs. Baker said. 'I don't think they're dangerous.' 'But Robby Croft said...' 'Yes, but Robby Croft is Robby Croft! He's one of the ten oldest and wants to be important.' Suddenly they heard a very loud howl. 'Oh, Frank!' , Mrs. Baker screamed, 'That where the werewolves! I'm sure! Oh, Frank!'

Mary, Florence, Loomis and Nicholas heard the werewolves, too. Nicholas thought: 'Oh no! I don't want to die!' But he said: 'I'm not frightened!' No one spoke. Nicholas took his diary and wrote under the text of Mary, that he wrote when they made a little break:

I think we're at the end of the journey now. We stopped six hours ago at a little hut. Here waited two goblins. They're called Ork and Helena. Ork's really in love with Helena! They gave us some sandwiches and hot chocolate. We talked about werewolves and Ork...

'What are you writing?' , asked Ork. Nicholas answered: 'That's my diary. I fetched it with magic, when we made a little break.' 'I wanted to tell you your job: You have to tell the elfs about the humans. You have to make, that they're friends!' 'But...why?' , asked Nicholas. 'Elfs don't know humans very well and humans don't know elfs very well. There are some people...very, very cruel and terrible people and they want to play on this! They want, that elfs and humans fight. At the end of this big fight both, elfs and humans, are going to be the losers. They're going to be faintly and they don't have soldiers any more. Now the people I talked about can overstrain the cloud.', explained Ork. 'Well, I think I understand!' , said Nicholas. 'You have to go now.', said Helena, 'Mary, don't talk to Robby Croft! You can speak with Arthur River. Do you know him? He's one of the oldest, too. Florence, Loomis, Nicholas, you can speak with James Miller. The unicorn (his name was Charly) brought the kids to the dead tree again. Mary walked to the house of Arthur River at once. He lived alone in an old, big house. She knocked at the door. Mr. River opened in a white nightdress. 'Hello', said Mary, 'Can I come in, please?' 'Yes, of course', answered Mr. River. An hour later Mary came out again. Mr. River followed her in his best suit. They went to the village of the elves.

One week later the elves and humans had a big party together and soon lots of them were big friends!

Eva Leberer

The locket of power

A long time ago lots of centaurs fought with the goblins after an argument between them. The goblins were weaker than the centaurs because of a locket, which made them aggressive. So they started a battle. Lots of swords were shining in the dark sky. After a while it seemed like the centaurs would win. Lamgi, who was holding the locket in his hand fought with a very mean goblin. Suddenly Lamgi saw his friend Samil, who was on the ground next to him and didn't move. He had a sword in his shoulder and was full of blood. He died in the battle. Lamgi was very sad and his hand, in which he was holding his sword, trembled and so he lost it. Then the goblin hit him with his sword because he hadn't got it. The goblin took the locket while Lamgi was falling to the ground. Now the goblins had got the locket and with its help they won the battle. They exiled the centaurs from "their" land and so the centaurs went back into the forest. The two groups would never speak to each other again. The sky was crying.

100 years later Gobil, who was a young centaur, woke up. It was the same like every day: Lots of trees and next to him his friend Amil. But Gobil knew that something was different. Then he knew: Today was his 18th birthday. Now he could go out of the forest. He couldn't do it before because his parents forbade him to leave these trees around them. They told him that the land, in which they and all the other creatures lived, was broken in two parts. In the mountains there have lived the horrible goblins and they, the centaurs, have lived in the forest and in between there has been a battlefield since the centaurs lost the fight, which was 100 years ago. And if he or another centaur went into the mountains the goblins would destroy them with a special locket. So the centaurs haven't been on the battlefield for years, too. But Gobil was different. He was foolish and strong. He wanted to find out how the battlefield looked like. Gobil stood up and got his equipment quickly. Because of this loud noise Amil woke up and wanted to go together with Gobil: "Gobil, let's go together. I can be strong, too. You're my best-friend. " "Great, I like the idea!", Gobil answered. So the two young centaurs left the forest. After a few minutes they couldn't see the trees or any centaurs. The bottom was full of little stones, which were red, like blood. It was quiet and dark. The only voice they heard was made by their feet. Gobil and Amil felt uncomfortable but they went on and on. Fog was getting around their heads and suddenly they saw something, which was shining through the fog. They ran fast in front of the light and then they stopped. They stood in front of a big rock and in there there was that shining thing. Then the friends saw what that was: A locket! "Look, Amil!", said Gobil, "Look at this. Can you see it?" "Yes, I can. I'm not blind, Gobil!" "Sorry, of course you're not!", Gobil said. "I can try to get the locket with my sword!", Amil said. "Yeah, try to!", Gobil answered. Amil hit the rock with his sword but it didn't break. "Hmm. That's difficult.", he said. "Well, I think it's full of power and therefore we...", Gobil stopped talking. The rock broke in two parts and the locket fell out. The friends took it and looked at it. "I think it's full of magic, too.", Amil said. "Let's go back to the forest and ask the others.", Gobil answered. "Good idea!", Amil agreed. So they ran back to the forest. "Look here, look here! Look at this! We found it on the old battlefield!", Gobil shouted through the trees and all the centaurs were quiet and looked at them. "What's that?", they asked. "We don't know, but it's full of power and...", Gobil stopped again. The locket threw golden light through the trees. "Oh. So then, where's Daldi?", one of the herd said. "You needn't look for him, he's here.", a very old and big centaur said. "Daldi, there you are!", Gobil shouted, "Can you have a look on this locket?" "Yes, of course.", Daldi answered. He looked at the locket carefully and after three minutes he said: "Ah, I know. Shall I explain it?" "Yes!", all the centaurs shouted at once. "Well then", Daldi said, "this is the locket of power. With this locket the centaurs fought with the goblins. This battle was exactly 100 years ago. Maybe you remember this. The centaurs were weaker than the goblins because of this locket, but they lost it. The centaurs thought that the goblins didn't know how to use the locket but they knew. And I know it, too. If you say the word "power" the locket will make you strong and brave. And because of this locket the goblins won the battle, of course. The centaurs hadn't a chance to win without their locket of power. Then the goblins exiled the centaurs, who survived, from their new land. That's the story, I think. But I haven't got an answer for this question that you will ask me: How did the goblins lose the locket? Now the locket is ours because of Gobil and Amil and so today is a good day for us! Now all our problems will have an end! Now, let's get our land back! Follow me!" All the centaurs began to cheer at once. All, but Gobil didn't. The herd went out of the forest and ran to the mountains, the land of the goblins. They saw the centaurs and faced them: "What are you doing here, centaurs? That's our land! Go away or you will die!" Daldi laughed: "You want to stop us? Let's see. Can you do it without this, too?" He showed the locket to the goblins. They were afraid, screamed and tried to run away, the centaurs behind them. Daldi took his sword but then: "STOP!", Gobil shouted and the centaurs and goblins stopped running, stood in front of each other and listened to him, "That's not OK! For 100 years the goblins and centaurs have been on very bad terms with each other. Can't we stop that and live together? It can't go on like this!" "You're right!", the centaurs and goblins said at once. And with these words they all got on. They destroyed the locket all together. Now it wasn't importing. From now on everything was good.

The Wizard Ork`s End

Go! Wake up! Wake up! You have to grab for gold, you mustn't sleep! Fetch your shovel! the wizard scared of the poor, exhausted goblins from their straw bed on the floor. They took their shovels and went quickly into the mine. Every day the same. The nasty wizard on a pedestal with a long whip, hitting every goblin who works to slowly. Hundreds of goblins work in the mine. And upstairs in the wizard Ork`s castle is all filled of gold. Everyday the wizard catches new goblins for his mine. He`s nasty and greedy and he only thinks of two things: gold and the beautiful fairy Maisahai.

Kwapil went to the forest. It was a sunny, nice day and he felt very well. But ...what`s this? He couldn't move anymore. He just felt like a statue. Suddenly he saw only a dirty mine, filled of working goblins. Then he heard a cold, stare voice and he knew that this was the notorious wizard Ork . And really: in front of him, on a gigantic pedestal stand he and said `You are my slave now. You have to stay and dig for gold your whole life.` Kwapil tried to say something, but his lips couldn't move. `Here`s your shovel. Dig!` The whip went down `Dig!` The following day was terrible. In the evening Kwapil was very exhausted and quickly laid down. But one goblin took his shoulder and whispered `Come on. We gonna plan our flight. Come with me.` All two hundred goblins said in a big circle on the ground. One of the goblins cleared one`s throat `This is the single day, where we can flee. Today comes the beautiful fairy Maisahai and the wizard Ork is in love with her. He`s very excited, and maybe... maybe he forgets the curse.` Kwapil asked `Which curse?` `Every evening he speaks a curse, so that we can`t do magic, so that we can`t flee.` `And what shall we do now?` Kwapil asked. `Look. We stay here in this circle until twelve o` clock. After twelve o` clock the curse will dissolve. Then we can flee and kill the nasty wizard. OK?` So they waited and waited and waited until half past eleven. `Only half an hour, people.` whispered one goblin in a low voice. `Good. At exactly one minute after twelve o` clock we all use the `Ronazius spell` so we can disappear. We all appear in front of the wizard`s castle, and then... then he must die because he would never be friendlier.`

Half an hour later the church bell rang. One time- two times- three times- four times- five times- six times- seven times- eight times- nine times- ten times- eleven times- and then the last time.

Upstairs in the castle the nasty wizard and his evil, but beautiful new wife heard two hundred bangs and suddenly the whole, dark castle shook and crashed on the rocks. Then ruled lead, lead silence.

Eva Deppe

One year ago it was Lilly's second day at her new school. In the last lesson they had Math, it was very boring and so Lilly talked always to Gina. The teacher became very angry. After school they should tidy up the cellar. So they went downstairs in the dark, dark cellar. On the bookshelves were many spiders and the window were steam up. In the middle of the room was a round table with a red tablecloth. "Oh I'm scary", Lilly said, "Let's go upstairs." "Yes I think you are right." Gina answered. They went slowly and carefully through the room. Suddenly Gina trip over a book and fell to the ground. "Are you all right?", Lilly asked and took the book. It was quite but then Lilly said, "It is a magic book! Let's get out of here." They ran upstairs to the doors of the school but all of them were locked.

At the same time in Lilly's house:

"Heiner, Heiner, do you know where Lilly is??", Lilly's mum asked. "No, I don't know. Maybe she had to stay longer at school.", Heiner answered. "But now it is 4 o'clock pm. Where is she???. I will take the bus to her school and I will seek her."

"Shit, what shall we do now?", Gina asked." In the cellar was the magic-book maybe we find a good charm to open the doors.", Lilly thought. "That's a thought! But I'm scared stiff.", answered Gina. The two girls still went downstairs in the cellar. They lit on a candle and open the book. They read and read and read. After a long time Lilly said "Oh look here ,ScriptuS, means to open locked doors."

"Ok, let's try it." They went upstairs again. In front of the door Lilly said very loudly "ScriptuM" Then a little shining flew through the windows and a werewolf appeared. His eyes were red and he had yellow, sharpe tooth. On his hairy body he wears a broken red vest and a dirty, broken, old, black trouser. He had big hands and big foots whit long claws. He looks horrible and aggressive." Ahhhhhhhhhhhhh", the two girls screamed together and ran through the floor. The hungry werewolf was behind them. They ran as fast as they could. The girls felt his breathing in their necks. The werewolf opened his mouth with the very terrible sharpe tooth."Here in there", Lilly whispered quickly and showed at a locker. They crawl into it and closed the door of the locker. It was very narrow .Then they heard a tap tap tap tap tap... .After that it was quite, very quiet. "I thought he is away." Lilly said and opened the locker.

They ran as quick as they could to the locked door and Gina said " ScriptuS" the door opened and the girls went to the bus station. Lilly looked behind her and in the window of the school she saw the red, terrible eyes again.

At the bus station they met Lilly's mum but they didn't tell her about the werewolf.

Theresa Mertens

Black, slimy spiders at a travel in “Big Funland”

In “Big Funland”, there lives a spider called Nave, but the spider doesn’t look like a normal one. He’s black and he has got eight legs like other spiders, but spooky are his five eyes and the big round nose. Nave’s black body is very slimy. He thinks he’s looking bad, because every time people see him in the fun park, they begin to cry.

One day he met another spider. Nenny was as strange as him and Nave liked her. They became big friends. Together they sat on kids and people to affright them. They had fun by this, but there was a problem. In the funland there are living other animals, too. A bird named Snaddle likes slimy spiders and he was hungry every time, so he always looked for them.

Yesterday, at a nice Monday afternoon there were lots of people in the fun park. Slowly Nave left his spooky home. Then he slowly walked towards Nenny, who has been waiting there for ten minutes. Together they crawled to a little girl which sat on a brown bench and climbed up her arm to her little head. She cried loudly and stood up. Suddenly Snaddle came and picked at her long, brown hair, because of Nave and Nenny. The girl ran through the big park and screamed. There was a crowd, but the girl ran through it. Some kids fell to the ground of white sand. The end of the park was coming nearer and nearer, so the girl ran into a forest. She tried to get the spiders off her head. Suddenly they fell to the ground. On the ground? No they weren’t on the ground. Nave and Nenny were on a smooth back of a cat. The cat was frightened of Snaddle, too. She went on a bench in the park fast. From there she jumped into another crowd at the cash. Then she shook her body, so that the spiders fell on the hard ground. And now they’re really on the ground! Nenny and Nave ran as fast as they could, but Snaddle the bird was faster. Nave was happy to see a big jungle gym with a slide and a roof.

Because of the roof Snaddle couldn’t see them and together Nave and Nenny slid down the big slide. They were landing in white sand. Nave could see his dark pipe yet. Fast he and Nenny burrow into the sand and went slowly on. The bird didn’t see them because the sand was above the spiders, but there was another problem! Opposite of Nave was a pavement! Now, there was only one chance to survive. They had to cross a small pond next to them, because they couldn’t go through the crowd at the pavement. The people would just hurt them with their feet, so slowly they began to swim. It was dangerous to swim to the other side of the pond. “Snaddle do not like water!” Nave said to Nenny. Nenny answered: “Great!” Finally they got to the pipe and watched happily with a lot of laughing all evening the people at the waterslide!

For the next time Nave and Nenny have to look for Snaddle before they go out of their pipes!!!!

In search of Myra

Once upon a time there was a gnome, he was called Little-hero. At a nice day in February Little-hero played ball with his best friend Myra the owl. Well it was as always, but Little-hero had an uncanny prickle in his bunt.

After a time the two departed far away from home.

Suddenly, they heard a voice; it was a human's voice. Little-hero and Myra got frightened and in a hurry they hid behind different bushes. So Little-hero couldn't follow the events.

All of a sudden he heard Myra's cry. He was shocked. "Have they found Myra?", he asked himself.

After a while it was very quite, so he was sure that the people proceeded. He got up and looked around, but he couldn't see Myra anywhere.

"Oh no!", he thought, "the people have taken her with them." He had to continue along their footprints. Little-hero followed their signs and the evening came nearer and nearer. The gnome felt tired, but he had to find Myra. He reached a human town. Little-hero was frightened, he didn't like the town, because it was big and dangerous for him. The footprints came to end; the people went by car on! "Oh no!", he thought. "I must find a little owl in this big town, it will take years! But before I begin, I have to sleep, because only awake Little-heros will reach his goal."

At the next morning Little-hero awoke up early. He heard a noise behind his back. It was the whirr of a cat. He turned around - the cat looked at him and asked: "What does a little gnome like you in this big town?" "I search my friend Myra the owl, because some people have kidnapped her", he answered the cat and broke out in tears. The cat felt sympathy for Little-hero and said: "You haven't to be sad, I will help you to find your friend. By the way, my name is Mauz."

Together they went in the night through the big and scary town.

At daybreak they came to a big and old fabric. Everywhere you could see cobwebs. And from in there deep voices came. Little-hero was frightened. Mauz looked through a little opened crack of the door. "I can't see anything," she said to him, "we have to go nearer."

Mauz flitted with Little-hero on her back through the crack. There was a ray of light of a pocket lamp. Six people, who wore dark clothes, stood in a cycle and in the middle of them Myra lay. Little-hero was so happy, because he have found her, so accidentally he made a crow. The people turned around and looked at him. Suddenly one man went towards Little-hero. The man looked creepy and bad with his big fists. He lifted Little-hero up and with his left hand he crushed him. Little-hero couldn't breathe very well now.

"Oh my god! I nearly suffocated!", he thought.

At that moment he heard a siren. The police!

It was his last rescue!

The police flounced into the fabric and arrested the men.

Since that time Myra, Mauz and Little-hero only play in the near of their house.

(Anna Seppelt 7c)

The scary pond

Once upon a time there was a little fairy and a beautiful unicorn. They met in the fairy forest. They talked about their adventures of last week. After a while the unicorn named Sally was very thirsty. The two friends came to a big pond. It's called 'The scary pond'. Nobody in fairy forest knew why it's called 'The scary pond'. It's just called like that. Milly the fairy wasn't sure if they really should drink the water. But Sally was pretty thirsty. She had to drink something. So she drank lots of water out of the pond...

...But it would be better when she wouldn't do that. Suddenly Sally and Milly were in another world. The trees weren't as beautiful and nice as before. They looked scary and they could speak! And the pond wasn't pretty and blue. It was very dark and it looked ugly. Now they knew why the pond was named 'The scary pond'. You mustn't drink the water of it! Sally and Milly were very frightened. There were no butterflies and fairies right now. There were dark figures and trolls. Suddenly there was a big, dark shadow. It came nearer and nearer. And then the two friends saw, that it was a terrible vampire. It wanted to fight. It was very hungry and it needed blood. Sally ran away quickly. She ran and ran. Milly flew away. But the vampire could fly, too. It flew very quickly. A fairy is very small. So it won't have much blood. So the vampire wanted to catch Sally. Sally was very nervous. Milly heard a noise. Somebody cried. And then she saw who it was. It was an old tree. It said: 'You must eat one of my leaves. I'm from fairy forest, too. I know you. I'm Corrina.' Corrina was an unicorn, too. 'I drank the water of the pond three months ago. And now I'm a tree. Save us! Eat one of my leaves Milly!', said Corrina. And that was what Milly did. Suddenly nothing moved. . And then Sally, Milly and Corrina were in fairy forest again! They were very happy. 'Corrina you're here!', said a butterfly. 'Yes, and I'm very happy now. Thanks you two. You saved me!', Corrina said. Milly and Sally looked at each other. They smiled.

The terrible Strawberries

Once upon a time there was the little fairy Alice. She lived in a wonderful fairy land which is called Flower land. In the Flower land lived many little fairys. Each one lived in her own flower. But not Malibu, because she was the fairy queen, she lived in a big tree. Alice lived in a wonderful pink Rose.

In the flower land it gave very delicious strawberries. The little alicé loved it to make delicious juice made of the strawberries. And because her juice was the best in the whole flower land she had to made for Malibu. So she looked for the best strawberries. The best ones were in the dark east wood. The east wood were one of the four fairy woods. But the danger in this wood was that there are the terrible 54strawberries, too. The wizard Calibus made the terrible strawberries because he want to have the whole flower land and typical Malibu. He loved Malibu very mutch. So he made the terrible strawberries, plant them in the dark east wood and hoped that Malibu eat them because then the whole flower land will sleep.

In the east wood Alice collected the reddest and best strawberries. At home she made delicious strawberry juice. Then she flew to the big queens tree. There Malibu tried the juice and suddenly there was a big bang. The whole fairy land slept and Malibu, too.

Calibus saw and heard that his trick had worked. Quickly he went to the big queens tree because wanted to brought Malibu to his house. But before that he wanted to kiss Malibu the first time. But at that moment as he kissed Malibu there was a big bang again and the whole flower land awaked. He hasn't read the magic book right.

So the flower land and Malibu were saved.

Von Pia Kleine Vorholt